Farm Board Cannot Prevent Grain Price Drops

CANNOT PROTECT GROWERS FROM OVER-PRODUCTION

VOLUNTARY RESTRICTION OF PRODUCTION BY FARMERS HELD IMPERATIVE

THEN ONLY CAN GOVERNMENT AID BE IN A MEASURE EFFECTIVE

By CECIL OWEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington ,Dec. 5.—Failure of its stabilization operations to prevent severe price declines was reported to congress today by the federal farm board in its first annual report.

The report bluntly warned the nation's growers that the government cannot protect them from the consequences of coninued over-production. Voluntary restriction of production by farmers was held imperative if government aid is to be effective.

Although admitting its emergency buying operations in wheat and cotton had not produced the results desired, the board held they were justified nevertheless. If the board had not intervened grain and cotton prices would have fallen even further, the report said.

For the future, the board said stabilization measures might continue to play a limited role in the government's program but added "such measures cannot wisely be undertaken lightly, for many involve not only excessive risks of loss of public funds, but grave danger of serious disaster to co-operatives themselves."

"Finally," it added, "the board regards measures for prevention of surpluses, through control of excessive production, as absolutely essential to stabilizing farm prices and farm incomes. Co-operative associations and stabilization corporations, supplemented by other devices, may prove able to deal with temporary or occasional surpluses.

"But none of these, or all together, nor any government agency can protect farmers from the consequences of repeated or continuous production in excess of market requirements. Adjustments of production to market requirements are indispensable, in agriculture as in industry, to the solution of surplus problems."

Summarizing its conclusions as a result of its experiences with wheat stabilization in the past year, the board said it was apparent in the case of wheat or any similar commodity that:

1. To be successful a large quantity of the commodity must be bought by the government. The accumulation of such a vast amount of the crop has a somewhat lowering effect on prices.

2. Purchases in the cash market alone are inadequate to sustain prices and do great injury to legitimate operations in the option market by throwing cash prices out of line with futures. This means that large purchases for future delivery must be made.

3. Transactions in the futures market having been entered on, there is no good place to stop. Option prices are published from six to eight months in advance, and as soon as buying of any option is stopped it gets out of line. This imposes a hardship on those used to hedging in the futures market.

4. The storage problem is serious in any stabilization activity. When a large quantity of wheat is purchased and held in terminals or warehouses, it interferes with handling of the crop. Some of the wheat must inevitably be held at such distance that it is not available for most economical use or sale.

5. When the government has bought wheat or another crop in this way it is difficult to dispose of it. Sales by a stabilization corporation tend promptly to turn the market downward and abundant complaint is received from growers who are still holding their crop.

Loan commitments to the two major stabilization corporations aggregated $90,000,000 to the grain buying organization, and $15,000,000 to the cotton stabilization corporation. Co-operative associations received a total of $165,146,555 in loan commitments in addition to these amounts for stabilization purposes. This gave a total of $270,000,000 in loan commitments approved by the board.

Progress in organizing producers into national co-operative marketing organizations was reviewed at length by the board which said the first year of its operation has shown clearly that farmer organization offers the surest hope of permanent financial betterment of those engaged in agriculture.

London, Dec. 5.—(U.P.)—The official niquiry into the dirigible R-101 disaster was ended today. Sir John Simon, presiding, said he was not able to say when the report would be made but the court was fully convinced of the competence and efficiency of the officers of the R-101

GOES TO JAIL RATHER THAN LIVE WITH HIS WIFE

Chicago, Dec. 5.—(U.P.)—Harold Hopkins, 24, today began serving a one year sentence in the county jail rather than live with his pretty wife, Mildred, 22.

"We can't get along," Hopkins told Judge Edelman. "I can't stand living with her and I'd rather go to jail than try it any more."

The maximum sentence for desertion was imposed by Judge Edelman, who had attempted to bring about a reconciliation.

SENATE IS NOW IN RECESS UNTIL MONDAY

CONGRESSIONAL ACTIVITIES TO HASTEN ADMINISTRATION MEASURES

$150,000,000 FOR UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF, $25,000,000 FOR FARMER SEED LOANS

Washington, Dec. 5.—(U.P.)—With the senate in recess until Monday, congressional activities today centered for the most part in committee moves to hasten the administration measures for speedy drought and unemployment relief.

The appropriations committee of the house considered President Hoover's $150,000,000 unemployment relief program and the agriculture committee continued its study of the $25,000,000 bill for seed loans to farmers. The latter measure was being taken up also by the agriculture committee of the senate.

Despite democratic opposition to some features of it the administration's relief program was expected to be followed in the bills reported from the committees.

The first prohibition battle of the short session of congress was in prospect for today in the house, with the wet bloc headed by Rep. Linthicum, democrat, Maryland, prepared to wage a fight for an amendment to the pending treasury-post office appropriation bill which would prevent use of poison in denaturing industrial alcohol.

Plans for a determined fight in opposition to use of government funds for this purpose were made at a meeting of the bloc Wednesday. A similar effort proved futile last session.

Meanwhile, both wet and dry organizations here were ready to open a series of national conferences at which plans for concerted offensives and counter offensives will be formulated On the wet side, the women's organizations for national prohibition reform was scheduled to begin a series of meetings today. Next week the Federal Dispensary League and the other anti-prohibition groups are to meet.

Beginning Monday representatives of most of the country's dry organizations will be in conference here. At this time, they are expected to decide whether or not to endorse a movement for a national prohibition referendum as suggested by Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals.

The Couzens-Parker bus regulation bill has been recommended to the interstate commerce committee.

The nomination of William N. Doak as secretary of labor, favorably reported by the education and labor committee, will be taken up by the senate Monday, confirmation being regarded as certain.

William Z. Foster, communist leader, was called before the Fish investigating committee today to be questioned about his activities.

The testimony of Foster, who came into national prominence as leader of the steel strike soon after the war, brings to a climax the investigations Rep. Hamilton Fish, republican, New York, and his special house committee have been conducting in all parts of the country.

When the committee concludes with Foster and several others who were called today, it will prepare its report for submission to the house which will carry recommendations for legislation to check communist activity.

Foster was communist candidate for president in 1928, and is head of the American section of the Communist International, the communist party of the United States, and secretary general of the Trade Union Unity League.

St. Paul, Dec. 5.—(U.P.)—The Pequot Rural Telephone Co., Pequot, with an exchange at Jenkins and Pequot, was granted an increase from $2.00 per individual line business per month to $3.00, by the state railroad and warehouse commission today.

Continental Europe is Dividing Itself Into 2 Great Groups, Each Suspicious of the Other

GROUPING IS SIMILAR TO THAT BEFORE WORLD WAR

EXCEPT THAT THE POWERS ARE ALIGNED IN A DIFFERENT MANNER

ITALY SEEMS TO HAVE ASSUMED THE LEADERSHIP OF THE MOVEMENT

Webb Miller, European manager for the United Press, has been making a tour of European countries, gathering a comprehensive picture of local conditions and of the international alignment of the various nations today. Following is another of his dispatches explaining the continental political trend at present.

By WEBB MILLER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Madrid, Dec. 5.—Continental Europe is dividing itself into two great groups, in the opinion of the authoritative observers of France, Italy and Spain, and each group is suspicious of the other and arming to defend itself from the other.

The grouping is similar to that which existed before the world war of 1914, except that the powers involved are aligned in a different manner.

The conviction that there is a definite tendency toward a new re-grouping of powers was expressed to the correspondent in many conversations during a trip through France, Italy and Spain in the last fortnight. These powers have been drawn together by mutual economic and political interests, as well as suspicions and dissatisfaction with the status quo of Europe based on the Versailles and other complementary treaties.

Italy seems to have assumed the leadership of the movement.

Through the efforts at rapprochements with Russia, Turkey and Hungary, Premier Benito Mussolini of the Fascist state, has taken a prominent position in the demand for revision of war treaties. Although the formation of this group is, at present tentative and based on closer economic relationships, the Fascist dictator has declared his sympathy with Germany's demands for revision of the Versailles treaty,, to which Italy also has objections.

"Europe is now divided into two camps—one for a change and the other for no change in the Versailles and complementary treaties," Mussolini said recently. He added that Italy was watching the movements of the various countries with the concern of one vitally affected and that Italy will prepare as others are preparing.

Other observers of international politics recently discerned similar tendencies in the action of David Lloyd George, the British liberal party leader. Lloyd George said that "Italy and Russia are being gradually driven by the policy of France, into co-operation with Germany. This regroupment of powers in Europe is fraught with danger to world peace."

Inasmuch as Spain was neutral in the world war, this country has a neutral outlook on international affairs.

Discussing the new political movements, which are imputed to diplomatic leadership of Italy, an article in El Sol says:

"The greatest danger of war in Europe at present is a possible alliance of Italy and Germany against France. Italy is a diplomatic cohesive force for a coalition of discontented states—Italy, Russia, Germany, Hungary, Austria, Bulgaria and Turkey.

"Military cohesive force could come only from Germany. Without the active aid of the Germans, any anti-France coalition would quickly fail. Anyhow, there is emerging more clearly than ever the hypothesis of the Italian-German-Russian convergence—three of the most explosive points in Europe."

At the same time an editorial in a newspaper entitled "Italy and Russia," discussed the division of Europe into two groups—those satisfied and those dissatisfied with the Versailles treaty. It pointed out as significant the fact that the votes of Italy, Russia and Germany at the League of Nations disarmament commission almost always coincided.

The editorial concluded that many reasons exist for closer economic relationship between Italy and Russia, from which country raw materials may be obtained and into which must go manufactured goods. Mussolini, in turning eastward, is only following in the footsteps of ancient Venice, it was pointed out.

DEMANDS DEATH PENALTY FOR 8 CONSPIRATORS

NICHOLAS KIRLENKO, SOVIET PROSECUTOR, WANTS THEM SHOT

"INTERVENTIONIST PLOT" TRIAL NEARING CLOSE AT MOSCOW

By EUGENE LYONS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Moscow, Dec. 5. — The penalty of death by shooting for all eight of the counter-revolutionaries on trial here was demanded today by Nicholas Kirlenko, the states prosecutor, as he swept the final chapter of the alleged "interventionist plot" trial to its close.

The demand, made with all of the vigor of the diminutive prosecutor, threw the crowded courtroom into a wild confusion of cheers and applause.

Kirlenko, striking with all of his power against the pleas of the defendants and giving ample reason for the nation-wide fame of "Krilenko,' sneer," brought home in a cold manner the state's demand for the death penalty.

"Paragraph 58 of the Soviet code provides the proper punishment for economic counter-revolution," the prosecutor told the court as millions of persons listened in the court room or before radio sets. All who heard him knew that article 56 provides the penalty of death.

Krilenko made every effort to prove that the basic Soviet industrials, especially coal, peat, oil and metals, actually were yielding two or three times more than the planning organs, in which the accused men were influential, originally projected.

The defendants were not guilty of plotting merely a general and unorganized plan of sabotage in preparation for intervention of foreign powers against the Soviet, he insisted, but were guilty of a carefully organized conspiracy for an economic crisis scheduled to culminate in 1930, simultaneous with the attack of interventionist armies.

The car overturned after leaving the highway and Boesch was pinned under the machine. Two women companions were only slightly injured. Boesch was on his way to Duluth, Minn., on business. He was president of the John Boesch dry goods company.

SUCCESSOR TO TARDIEU SOUGHT BY THE FRENCH

PRESIDENT GASTON DOUMERGUE CONTENDS WITH DIFFICULT PROBLEM

SOME DEMAND FOR RETURN OF POINCARE TO THE PREMIERSHIP

By RALPH HEINZEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Paris, Dec. 5.—President Gaston Doumergue contended with one of the most difficult programs of his regime today as he sought a successor to the resigned government of Premier Andre Tardieu.

Although there was a wide demand especially in the senate which yesterday defeated the general policies of Tardieu, for the return of the veteran Raymond Poincare to the premiership, the names of four or five other senators, as well as of Tardieu to succeed himself, were forced to the front in the preliminary discussions.

Poincare, the mathematically-minded "savior of the franc," whose power was the most stable in France for half a dozen years, announced definitely that he would not accept the premiership.

"That's final," he told the United Press, but there was a strong demand for the president to over-ride his refusal. The president called Poincare for a conference this afternoon.

The other candidates who appeared in the turbulent political arena today included Albert Sarraut of the democratic left bloc, who suddenly became one of the most likely to succeed Tardieu; Pierre Leval, former minister of justice and not affiliated with a bloc; and Senator Theodore Steeg, former governor general of Morocco.

NOT RELEASED BY BANKRUPTCY PROCEEDINGS

St. Paul, Dec. 5.—(U.P.)—A money judgment for willful injury in a personal injury suit is not released by bankruptcy proceedings, the state supreme court ruled in a Stearns county case today.

Mary Weis, St. Cloud, was killed by a car driven by Hubert Mockenhaupt, September 29, 1925. Suit for damages was brought by the administrator of her estate and won. Mockenhaupt later went through bankruptcy and sought to evade payment of the judgment.

The court ruled that the federal bankruptcy law excepts such judgments.

The state supreme court ruled that the Hudson Bay Fur Co., Duluth, cannot obtain the return of 680 muskrat skins seized by the state game and fish department four years ago.

The court's ruling was the second it has made on the case. In the first suit the appeal was brought by the plaintiffs and a new trial was ordered.

In the present decision, the appeal was brought by the state which lost in district court. The supreme court reversed the decision of the lower court.

COUNTY ATTORNEY SAYS ACTION DID NOT SURPRISE HIM

IF ARGUMENT GOES TO JUDGE WILL QUESTION ALL SIGNERS ON STAND TAKEN

ASSERTS THAT ERICSON AND HARTLEY CIRCULATED ELECTION CONTEST PETITION

County Attorney Arthur J. Sullivan exploded a volley today to declare that Geo. E. Ericson, editor of the Brainerd Tribune, a weekly newspaper, and Sherwood Hartley were the guns back of the move to unseat him and deprive him of the office he won over City Attorney D. H. Fullerton in the Nov. 4 election.

The declaration was based on facts which Mr. Sullivan said were in his possession. He said that in view of the part the pair took in working against him in the election, he was not surprised.

Mr. Sullivan stated, however, that should the matter come to a hearing before a judge he would call all signers to testify to learn the stand of each.

In direct terms County Attorney Sullivan today accepted the challenge to deprive him of his office as made in a petition filed by the law firm of Ryan & Ryan in the office of the clerk of the district court late Wednesday.

His statement, frank and terse, follows:

"I have been informed that the petition, a copy of which was published in last night's paper, was filed in the office of the clerk of court but no notice has as yet been served on me.

"However, in view of the fact that I have received reliable information that the petition was circulated by Geo. E. Ericson, the editor of the Brainerd Tribune, and one Sherwood Hartley, I am not surprised that they were instrumental in bringing about such an act in view of the manner in which they worked against me during the recent campaign."

The aftermath to the election which resulted in a 650 majority for Sullivan over Fullerton became a matter of much discussion in Brainerd after the Dispatch announced last evening the filing of the petition.

The petition charged that Sullivan violated provisions of the Corrupt Practice Act by circulating a pamphlet which contained a letter by Martin Anderson, former city alderman, and another pamphlet described as "Facts Concerning the Road and Bridge Fund Investigation, as made by A. J. Sullivan, County Attorney of Crow Wing County,"

The petition was signed by 45 people, the majority from country precincts.

Money of a few individuals in Brainerd was said to be back of the move but that none of these desired to sign their names to the petition.

Such a report would indicate that those back of the move desired to remain under cover in the matter and to throw the brunt of the attack on Sullivan and any subsequent criticism resulting on the shoulders of unsuspecting urban residents who were not familiar with the true facts.

THREE CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH

Albany, Minn., Dec. 5.—(U.P.)—Three children were burned to death today when fire destroyed the farm home of Charles Gerads, near Freeport.

The children were Martha, 5, Martin, 4, and Jerome, 3.

An overheated stove started the fire which rapidly consumed the house. The father with a hired girl was in the barn when the fire started.

EXPLOSION AND FIRE DESTROY FOUR BELOIT, WIS., STORES

Beloit, Wis., Dec. 5.—(U.P.)—An explosion followed by fire destroyed four stores in Beloit's business district today. Damage was estimated at $750,000.

The explosion was caused by a leaky gas main, according to firemen, and shook the entire business district. Patrolman Lester Sheehan, who was standing across the street, was blown through a plate glass window. He received several cuts but was the only person injured.

The explosion occurred about 6 a. m. and was followed immediately by fire which destroyed the four buildings, a dry goods store, a clothing store, a grocery and jewelry store.

Several pedestrians were knocked down by the blast but were uninjured.

The Rockford, Ill., fire department was called to aid the Beloit fire fighters but the combined forces were unable to stop the flames.

Sheehan said the first indication of the explosion he noticed was when the roof of the Chester dry goods store raised slightly and then there was a terrific blast.

Moscow, Dec. 5. — The penalty of death by shooting for all eight of the counter-revolutionaries on trial here was demanded today by Nicholas Kirlenko, the states prosecutor, as he swept the final chapter of the alleged "interventionist plot" trial to its close.

The demand, made with all of the vigor of the diminutive prosecutor, threw the crowded courtroom into a wild confusion of cheers and applause.

Kirlenko, striking with all of his power against the pleas of the defendants and giving ample reason for the nation-wide fame of "Krilenko,' sneer," brought home in a cold manner the state's demand for the death penalty.

"Paragraph 58 of the Soviet code provides the proper punishment for economic counter-revolution," the prosecutor told the court as millions of persons listened in the court room or before radio sets. All who heard him knew that article 56 provides the penalty of death.

Krilenko made every effort to prove that the basic Soviet industrials, especially coal, peat, oil and metals, actually were yielding two or three times more than the planning organs, in which the accused men were influential, originally projected.

The defendants were not guilty of plotting merely a general and unorganized plan of sabotage in preparation for intervention of foreign powers against the Soviet, he insisted, but were guilty of a carefully organized conspiracy for an economic crisis scheduled to culminate in 1930, simultaneous with the attack of interventionist armies.

HEALTHIEST GIRL AND BOY

Miss Marian E. Snydergaard, 15, of Grundy County, Ia., and William R. Bodenhamer, 20, of Johnson County, Mo., adjudged the healthiest girl and boy in the United States, attribute their fine physical condition to right living. Miss Snydergaard's rating was 99.7 per cent and Bodenhamer's 98.7 per cent. The pair were entrants in the 4-H Club Congress in conjunction with the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago.

BURLINGTON, IOWA, MERCHANT KILLED NEAR HINCKLEY

Hinckley, Minn., Dec. 5.—(U.P.)—Melbourne H. Boesch, 36, Burlington, Ia., dry goods merchant, was instantly killed late yesterday when his car plunged from the road, four miles from here. The car overturned after leaving the highway and Boesch was pinned under the machine. Two women companions were only slightly injured. Boesch was on his way to Duluth, Minn., on business. He was president of the John Boesch dry goods company.

SUCCESSOR TO TARDIEU SOUGHT BY THE FRENCH

PRESIDENT GASTON DOUMERGUE CONTENDS WITH DIFFICULT PROBLEM

SOME DEMAND FOR RETURN OF POINCARE TO THE PREMIERSHIP

By RALPH HEINZEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Paris, Dec. 5.—President Gaston Doumergue contended with one of the most difficult programs of his regime today as he sought a successor to the resigned government of Premier Andre Tardieu.

Although there was a wide demand especially in the senate which yesterday defeated the general policies of Tardieu, for the return of the veteran Raymond Poincare to the premiership, the names of four or five other senators, as well as of Tardieu to succeed himself, were forced to the front in the preliminary discussions.

Poincare, the mathematically-minded "savior of the franc," whose power was the most stable in France for half a dozen years, announced definitely that he would not accept the premiership.

"That's final," he told the United Press, but there was a strong demand for the president to over-ride his refusal. The president called Poincare for a conference this afternoon.

The other candidates who appeared in the turbulent political arena today included Albert Sarraut of the democratic left bloc, who suddenly became one of the most likely to succeed Tardieu; Pierre Leval, former minister of justice and not affiliated with a bloc; and Senator Theodore Steeg, former governor general of Morocco.

NOT RELEASED BY BANKRUPTCY PROCEEDINGS

St. Paul, Dec. 5.—(U.P.)—A money judgment for willful injury in a personal injury suit is not released by bankruptcy proceedings, the state supreme court ruled in a Stearns county case today.

Mary Weis, St. Cloud, was killed by a car driven by Hubert Mockenhaupt, September 29, 1925. Suit for damages was brought by the administrator of her estate and won. Mockenhaupt later went through bankruptcy and sought to evade payment of the judgment.

The court ruled that the federal bankruptcy law excepts such judgments.

The state supreme court ruled that the Hudson Bay Fur Co., Duluth, cannot obtain the return of 680 muskrat skins seized by the state game and fish department four years ago.

The court's ruling was the second it has made on the case. In the first suit the appeal was brought by the plaintiffs and a new trial was ordered.

In the present decision, the appeal was brought by the state which lost in district court. The supreme court reversed the decision of the lower court.

Washington, Dec. 5.—(U.P.) — President Hoover's recent order to American consuls not to issue immigration visas to persons likely to become public charges reduced the number of aliens coming to this country in October by 87 per cent of the authorized quota, according to figures published.

LARIATS, SPEARS TO BE USED BY 2 DEER HUNTERS

Ashland, Wis., Dec. 5.—(U.P.)—Lariats or spears will be the weapons used by Dr. W. E. Nolan and Thomas J. McCall when they encounter deer today on Michigan Island. They planned to use bow and arrows but discovered that this method violates the state law.

COUNTY ATTORNEY SAYS ACTION DID NOT SURPRISE HIM

IF ARGUMENT GOES TO JUDGE WILL QUESTION ALL SIGNERS ON STAND TAKEN

ASSERTS THAT ERICSON AND HARTLEY CIRCULATED ELECTION CONTEST PETITION

County Attorney Arthur J. Sullivan exploded a volley today to declare that Geo. E. Ericson, editor of the Brainerd Tribune, a weekly newspaper, and Sherwood Hartley were the guns back of the move to unseat him and deprive him of the office he won over City Attorney D. H. Fullerton in the Nov. 4 election.

The declaration was based on facts which Mr. Sullivan said were in his possession. He said that in view of the part the pair took in working against him in the election, he was not surprised.

Mr. Sullivan stated, however, that should the matter come to a hearing before a judge he would call all signers to testify to learn the stand of each.

In direct terms County Attorney Sullivan today accepted the challenge to deprive him of his office as made in a petition filed by the law firm of Ryan & Ryan in the office of the clerk of the district court late Wednesday.

His statement, frank and terse, follows:

"I have been informed that the petition, a copy of which was published in last night's paper, was filed in the office of the clerk of court but no notice has as yet been served on me.

"However, in view of the fact that I have received reliable information that the petition was circulated by Geo. E. Ericson, the editor of the Brainerd Tribune, and one Sherwood Hartley, I am not surprised that they were instrumental in bringing about such an act in view of the manner in which they worked against me during the recent campaign."

The aftermath to the election which resulted in a 650 majority for Sullivan over Fullerton became a matter of much discussion in Brainerd after the Dispatch announced last evening the filing of the petition.

The petition charged that Sullivan violated provisions of the Corrupt Practice Act by circulating a pamphlet which contained a letter by Martin Anderson, former city alderman, and another pamphlet described as "Facts Concerning the Road and Bridge Fund Investigation, as made by A. J. Sullivan, County Attorney of Crow Wing County."

The petition was signed by 45 people, the majority from country precincts.

Money of a few individuals in Brainerd was said to be back of the move but that none of these desired to sign their names to the petition.

Such a report would indicate that those back of the move desired to remain under cover in the matter and to throw the brunt of the attack on Sullivan and any subsequent criticism resulting on the shoulders of unsuspecting urban residents who were not familiar with the true facts.

THREE CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH

Albany, Minn., Dec. 5.—(U.P.)—Three children were burned to death today when fire destroyed the farm home of Charles Gerads, near Freeport.

The children were Martha, 5, Martin, 4, and Jerome, 3.

An overheated stove started the fire which rapidly consumed the house. The father with a hired girl was in the barn when the fire started.

EXPLOSION AND FIRE DESTROY FOUR BELOIT, WIS., STORES

Beloit, Wis., Dec. 5.—(U.P.)—An explosion followed by fire destroyed four stores in Beloit's business district today. Damage was estimated at $750,000.

The explosion was caused by a leaky gas main, according to firemen, and shook the entire business district. Patrolman Lester Sheehan, who was standing across the street, was blown through a plate glass window. He received several cuts but was the only person injured.

The explosion occurred about 6 a. m. and was followed immediately by fire which destroyed the four buildings, a dry goods store, a clothing store, a grocery and jewelry store.

Several pedestrians were knocked down by the blast but were uninjured.

The Rockford, Ill., fire department was called to aid the Beloit fire fighters but the combined forces were unable to stop the flames.

Sheehan said the first indication of the explosion he noticed was when the roof of the Chester dry goods store raised slightly and then there was a terrific blast.

BRAINERD 25 Years Ago

December 5, 1905

Capt. H. W. Alsop of St. Louis was in the city for a short time last evening and this morning visiting with his old friend E. C. Griffith. Capt. Alsop is a brother of Charles Alsop, at one time superintendent of the shops here and prominent in the early development of the city.

The Shepperd post office will be discontinued Dec. 30, the postmaster there having resigned and no one is desirous of assuming the position. Rural Route No. 1 runs in that direction and has taken most of the business from the office.

At the city council meeting last evening, the question of paving the streets of the city was again taken up. It is believed that some paving should be done each year until all the streets of the city of any importance are put in a thoroughly passable condition. Alderman A. M. Opsahl has been assiduously working along this line for some time. A liquor license was also issued to Ed Boppel.

Mrs. A. D. Polk was injured in one of the most disastrous wrecks in months which occurred on the N. P. near St. Cloud today. All particulars have not been learned, but many from Brainerd were returning on that train, and considerable anxiety is being felt. Dr. Courtney, Dr. Ide and Dr. Buskirk of the N. P. Sanitarium and Miss Strangway, assistant chief nurse at the hospital, left immediately for St. Cloud.

The board of education met last evening, President Mahlum presiding. None of the school buildings have been equipped with fire hose, and the building committee was authorized to furnish same. The average daily attendance of the schools of the city was 1,892 for the month.

BRAINERD 25 Years Ago

December 5, 1905

Capt. H. W. Alsop of St. Louis was in the city for a short time last evening and this morning visiting with his old friend E. C. Griffith. Capt. Alsop is a brother of Charles Alsop, at one time superintendent of the shops here and prominent in the early development of the city.

The Shepperd post office will be discontinued Dec. 30, the postmaster there having resigned and no one is desirous of assuming the position. Rural Route No. 1 runs in that direction and has taken most of the business from the office.

At the city council meeting last evening, the question of paving the streets of the city was again taken up. It is believed that some paving should be done each year until all the streets of the city of any importance are put in a thoroughly passable condition. Alderman A. M. Opsahl has been assiduously working along this line for some time. A liquor license was also issued to Ed Boppel.

Mrs. A. D. Polk was injured in one of the most disastrous wrecks in months which occurred on the N. P. near St. Cloud today. All particulars have not been learned, but many from Brainerd were returning on that train, and considerable anxiety is being felt. Dr. Courtney, Dr. Ide and Dr. Buskirk of the N. P. Sanitarium and Miss Strangway, assistant chief nurse at the hospital, left immediately for St. Cloud.

The board of education met last evening, President Mahlum presiding. None of the school buildings have been equipped with fire hose, and the building committee was authorized to furnish same. The average daily attendance of the schools of the city was 1,892 for the month.

T. E. Rutherford Rites

Funeral rites were conducted at Spokane, Wash., for Thomas E. Rutherford, member of the Aurora lodge of Masons, Brainerd, and at one time manager of the Arlington hotel here which was destroyed by fire.

New Mission Sunday School

There will be a meeting of teachers and officers of the New Mission Sunday school this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Alta Strobl, Fourth avenue N. E.

All members are urged to be present at this meeting. Any who are interested in the work of the Sunday school are cordially invited.

Brainerd Group to Attend Model Lodge Meeting at Alexandria

Mr. and Mrs. Guy O. Bacon of 515 South Ninth street, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fry of 1003 South Seventh street and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fuller, 301 North Tenth street, will leave tomorrow afternoon for Alexandria to attend a Model Lodge meeting of both Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges.

These meetings will be presided over and conducted by the Grand Lodge and Rebekah Assembly officers and will be in the form of schools of instruction in the work. The meetings are called for 8 o'clock Saturday evening, preceded by a parade led by the Patriarchs Militant and Ladies Auxiliary.

Mr. and Mrs. Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. Fry and Mr. Fuller are all past officers of the Brainerd Odd Fellow and Rebekah Lodges. They expect to return to Brainerd Sunday.

TRAINEES TO STUDY BRAINERD COURSE

La Belle-McColl Bureau Instructs Students From Various Parts of Northwest

Harry J. Johnson, Assistant Director of Re-Education, St. Paul, was in Brainerd Thursday. He conferred with Arthur La Belle of the La Belle-McColl Bureau concerning the trainees which the state has assigned to the Bureau for rehabilitation.

The local correspondence school is instructing students located in Aitkin, Duluth, St. Paul, Fosston, Bagley, and Clearbrook.

Several of the trainees are studying a new course in Sales Letter Writing which Mr. La Belle has prepared. It is a method of individual training which enables the student to derive an income from his efforts within a few months after starting the course. The result is that the disabled person who finds it difficult to obtain a position in the business world is taught to conduct an independent business, in the privacy of his home, through the medium of direct-mail advertising.

Mr. Johnson said that several additional trainees were under consideration for enrollment shortly after the first of January, one of the cases being a Crow Wing county resident.

The National Vocational Rehabilitation Conference was held in Kansas City, Missouri in October. Oscar M. Sullivan, Minnesota Director of Re-Education, was in attendance. In his letter of November 18 to the La Belle-McColl Bureau Mr. Sullivan stated that contracts from other states would probably be placed before long, as he had recommended the Brainerd school at the convention.

MERRIFIELD

Nine per cent of airplane accidents are due to weather. Only 9 per cent are due to structural faults; 19 per cent are due to failure of power, and 60 per cent or more are due to the pilots' error or incompetence.—Country Home.

General Improvement in Trunk Highways

There has been a general improvement in highway conditions throughout the state during the past week, according to the road report issued by the State Highway department today. All the trunk routes are open and in most parts of the state the road surfaces are free of snow. A few of the unpaved routes are somewhat rough.

The report emphasizes the importance of careful driving when roads are slippery. Pavements especially are likely to be frosty and icy during part of the day when weather is changeable. The maintenance crews will sand or cinder turns and hills, as far as time permits, but it is a physical impossibility to cover all the routes when they become slippery at one time, and cautious driving is the only sure way to prevent accidents.

Detailed reports follow insofar as they refer to the Brainerd Lake Region:

T. H. No. 2—Duluth, Brainerd, Wadena, Detroit Lakes and Moorhead—260 miles—Duluth, paved—Carlton, good, fair, good—Cromwell, good, fair, 1 mile construction, poor—McGregor, fair—Turner Lake, good—Detroit Lakes, paved—Moorhead.

T. H. No. 18—Elk River, Milaca and Brainerd—103 miles—Good.

T. H. No. 19—Brainerd, Walker and Cass Lake—93 miles—Good.

T. H. No. 27—St. Cloud, Little Falls and Brainerd—62 miles—Paved.

WOODROW

Theodore Bisson had the misfortune to cut his leg Monday while cutting wood. Four stitches were taken in the wound.

Miss Gladys Olson and brother Martin were overnight guests of Mrs. Robert Britton Saturday night.

Mrs. Ed Norgard entertained a number of her friends and neighbors in her home Saturday evening.

School opened in Dist. 5 Monday morning after five days of vacation.

J. P. Dullum made a business trip to Brainerd Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schmolke were visiting relatives in Woodrow Sunday.

Radio reception is especially good these cold evenings, one reason to appreciate winter.

Lucile and Evelyn Dullum motored to Riverton Monday to take up their school work after spending their vacation at home.

Mrs. Andrew Shuffelen entertained her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harve Hoskins, at Thanksgiving dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Britton were guests at the H. A. Olson home on Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Britton entertained a group of relatives for supper on Thanksgiving day.

Lengthy Indictment

According to the estimate of modern orators, it required probably about one hour and a half for Cicero to deliver his first oration against Cataline.

Seine Meanders

From Paris to the sea as the robin flies is only about 112 miles, but as the Seine flows it is nearly 250 meandering lengths of the same measurement.

Is Keeping Faith With Voters

ARTHUR J. SULLIVAN, who was returned to the office of County Attorney by the voters in the November election, is keeping faith with the voters in carrying out his campaign promises even before his new term of office goes into effect. Mr. Sullivan secured a conviction in the only road and bridge fund investigation case that was heard during the term of court which has just closed. The other cases will come up for hearing when court convenes again in January. He has proved his worth and is deserving of continued support.

Shops Have a Worthy Record

THE Brainerd railway shops have achieved a worthy record in various kinds of car building.

For instance, in 1916, the shops built 1,000 stock cars. The crews at hand turned out 10 cars a day, working 10 hours, or a car an hour.

Later the shops were entrusted the commission to manufacture box cars, and they turned out six box cars daily. They assembled 30 flat cars daily.

This makes the Northern Pacific railway shops at Brainerd worthy contenders for handling any part of a car building program that the railway company may map out for winter work next year.

Sparton Announces
a new 12-record, fully automatic
COMBINATION
RADIO-PHONOGRAPH

$280 Without Tubes

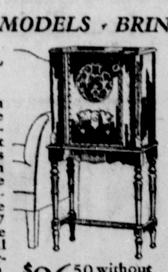

The New SPARTON ENSEMBLE
Model 235
A fully automatic, 12-record (10 or 12-inch) radio-phonograph combination in a handsome wood-carved walnut cabinet. The radio is a 10-tube Sparton, and the fully automatic phonograph, changing records in 4 seconds, is Sparton built. This is a de luxe instrument throughout, with Radio's Richest Voice at its enchanting best.

In a NEW PRICE FIELD
In presenting this instrument at its sensational price, Sparton brings the ownership of automatic radio-phonograph combinations for the first time within the means of the average income. Yet it is a Sparton throughout, with the same circuit, the same chassis, and the same supremely fine standards of construction that have been responsible for Sparton leadership in the fine radio field.

AND TWO NEW MODELS - BRINGING RADIO'S RICHEST VOICE WITHIN THE MEANS OF NEW MILLIONS

THE JEWEL
Model 420
This graceful new Sparton console is just what the name implies . . . a genuine little jewel, and built as only Sparton builds. Its chassis is one on which Sparton is proud to place its name, with 2 screen-grid tubes, type 224, one type 280 and one type 427 tube, and with two type 183 tubes for push-pull amplification. A wonderful Sparton for $96.50, less tubes.

$96.50 without tubes

WITH the introduction of these remarkable new models to the Sparton line, Radio's Richest Voice becomes available in every popular radio class. No person need be satisfied with less. We urge you to call, to listen to these Spartons, and let your own appreciation of music tell you that nothing in radio offers quite the same satisfaction or value.

$56.00 without tubes

THE JUNIOR
Model 410
An outstanding example of just how genuine quality can be built into a miniature radio. It has a complete Sparton chassis, the standard Sparton circuit, dynamic speaker and other features of excellence that are responsible for Radio's Richest Voice. This beautiful little cabinet is a masterpiece of small design. The price is a Sparton achievement; only $56.00, less tubes.

FORCED TO RETIRE

DR. ARCH HUTCHINSON, D. D. S., says he regards new Sargon as real triumph of Science.

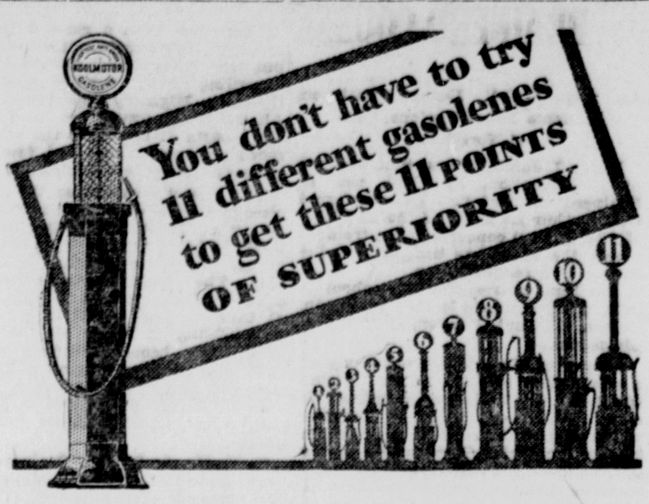

"Up to a few years ago I practiced my profession in Seattle, Washington, where I had a large and lucrative practice. On account of poor health I was forced to retire.

"For four years my strength and vitality declined steadily. I traveled from place to place in search of health but continually grew worse.

"The Sargon Treatment completely restored my health. The way it restored my energy and vitality is nothing short of remarkable. I feel better than for twenty years and attribute my present good health to this great medicine. I regard it as a real triumph of Science."

Dr. Hutchison now resides at Palo Alto, California.

KOOLMOTOR
the original high test, anti-knock green gas

combines them all in ONE!

SOME gasolenes are built to make a showy effect in starting—some in pick-up—some in anti-knock performance. Unfortunately these effects are produced at the sacrifice of other phases of performance equally important.

Koolmotor, the original high test, anti-knock green gas, combines the best points of all gasolenes in one superior motor fuel.

Koolmotor—the gas that is good throughout—excels in all the 11 points of gasolene quality. It is laboratory tested 11 times in the most exhaustive tests ever given any gasolene—tests for starting, acceleration, anti-knock, power, vapor pressure, odor, corrosion, sulphur, gum content, distillation, and mileage.

You don't have to try 11 different gasolenes to get the good points of each. They're all combined in one; Koolmotor, the gas that gives you the greatest mile-by-mile performance money can buy—one gasolene that really justifies its premium price.

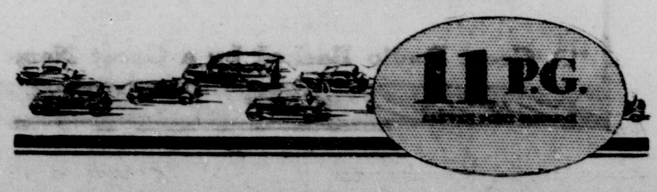

Your nearest Cities Service station or dealer is waiting to serve you quickly and efficiently.

The radio is a 10-tube Sparton, and the fully automatic phonograph, changing records in 4 seconds, is Sparton built. This is a de luxe instrument throughout, with Radio's Richest Voice at its enchanting best.

In a NEW PRICE FIELD
In presenting this instrument at its sensational price, Sparton brings the ownership of automatic radio-phonograph combinations for the first time within the means of the average income. Yet it is a Sparton throughout, with the same circuit, the same chassis, and the same supremely fine standards of construction that have been responsible for Sparton leadership in the fine radio field.

AND TWO NEW MODELS - BRINGING RADIO'S RICHEST VOICE WITHIN THE MEANS OF NEW MILLIONS

THE JEWEL
Model 420
This graceful new Sparton console is just what the name implies . . . a genuine little jewel, and built as only Sparton builds. Its chassis is one on which Sparton is proud to place its name, with 2 screen-grid tubes, type 224, one type 280 and one type 427 tube, and with two type 183 tubes for push-pull amplification. A wonderful Sparton for $96.50, less tubes.

$96.50 without tubes

WITH the introduction of these remarkable new models to the Sparton line, Radio's Richest Voice becomes available in every popular radio class. No person need be satisfied with less. We urge you to call, to listen to these Spartons, and let your own appreciation of music tell you that nothing in radio offers quite the same satisfaction or value.

THE JUNIOR
Model 410
An outstanding example of just how genuine quality can be built into a miniature radio. It has a complete Sparton chassis, the standard Sparton circuit, dynamic speaker and other features of excellence that are responsible for Radio's Richest Voice. This beautiful little cabinet is a masterpiece of small design. The price is a Sparton achievement; only $56.00, less tubes.

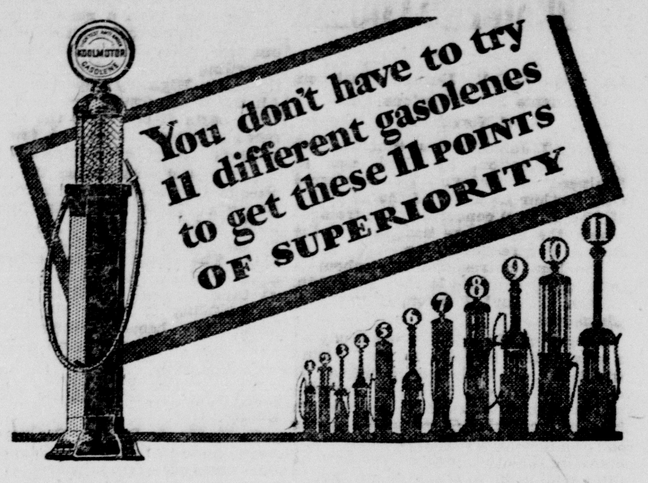

$56.00 without tubes

KOOLMOTOR
the original high test, anti-knock green gas

combines them all in ONE!

SOME gasolenes are built to make a showy effect in starting—some in pick-up—some in anti-knock performance. Unfortunately these effects are produced at the sacrifice of other phases of performance equally important.

Koolmotor, the original high test, anti-knock green gas, combines the best points of all gasolenes in one superior motor fuel.

Koolmotor—the gas that is good throughout—excels in all the 11 points of gasolene quality. It is laboratory tested 11 times in the most exhaustive tests ever given any gasolene—tests for starting, acceleration, anti-knock, power, vapor pressure, odor, corrosion, sulphur, gum content, distillation, and mileage.

You don't have to try 11 different gasolenes to get the good points of each. They're all combined in one; Koolmotor, the gas that gives you the greatest mile-by-mile performance money can buy—one gasolene that really justifies its premium price.

PARTY OF THREE FLEW TO BRAINERD IN 6½ HOURS

HUNTED FIVE DAYS IN VICINITY OF MIZPAH AND GEMMELL

SHOT 200-POUND BUCK, AND HAD VENISON PARTY IN INDIANAPOLIS

In the early eighties when in need of venison, the covered wagon was in vogue as a means of transportation from populated centers to the great open spaces—then followed the railroads—later the automobile—and now comes the airplane.

McFarland Benham, president of the Benham-Pray Company, advertising novelties, F. Rolland Buck, engineer, and Walker W. Winslow, president of the Indiana Aviation Corporation, distributors for the Curtiss-Wright Corporation, of Indianapolis, Indiana, on invitation of Egon C. Reese of Brainerd, stepped into their comfortably equipped and heated 4-passenger Travel-Air cabin monoplane, equipped with a sturdy Whirlwind motor, at 6 A. M. and after transacting business in Culver, Indiana, Milwaukee and West Bend, Wis., and St. Paul, landed at the Brainerd Airport 6½ hours later. They were met at the field by Mr. Reese and Rosko Brothers, where their ship was stored for a period of 10 days.

Aafter taking on a goodly supply of nourishment for both immediate and future consumption, they were driven to Mr. Reese's cabin on Ten Mile lake near Hackensack for a few days' fishing, and then drove up through Bemidji, to the country around Mizpah and Gemmell, for five days' deer hunting. The party returned to Brainerd on the night of November 20, where they were the guests of Mr. Reese and Rosko Brothers. They loaded in the trophy of their trip, a 200-pound buck, and five and one-half hours later were preparing venison for a large party in Indianapolis.

Mr. Winslow expressed his high appreciation to the Brainerd Dispatch, Rosko Brothers and Mr. Reese, and to their numerous friends, for their helpfulness in making the visit of his party such a great success. He predicts that with the continuance of the progressive policy evidenced by air-minded Brainerd, that Brainerd will play host to a great number of air travelers within the very near future.

Mr. Winslow pointed out that realization of the importance of air transportation is well established, and that the community which provides itself with adequate airport facilities will place itself in just the position that our outstanding cities did during the advent of the railroad. The business of aerial transportation does not require large subsidiaries for its inauguration, as did our railroad transportation systems, to bring it into being, but merely requires the goodwill, enthusiastic support, and loan of the good name of the city, as was evidenced on the occasion of this visit.

SANATORIUM NOTES

The ladies of the Congregational church, of Aitkin, made a very nice donation to the sanatorium of jellies, magazines and books. We all join in giving our thanks for everything.

Mrs. L. P. Hall, of Bay Lake, made a very nice donation of jelly for our Thanksgiving. Mrs. Hall has made this same generous contribution every year for several years, and we want to express our appreciation. A big "thank you" from us all.

For Thanksgiving dinner the following bed patients were up to have their meal in the dining room instead of having a tray: the Misses Ruth Phillips, Nina Leukuma and Albena Eckman of the East Ward and the Mesdames Glanville and Hooker of middle ward. It was quite a rare treat for them to be up for a meal and they all enjoyed it very much.

Mrs. Inez Westling spent Thanksgiving at her home at Malmo.

The radio plays a very important part in the "cure taking" at the sanatorium. Each patient has an earphone above the bed and he or she may listen any time of the day or evening or else remove the plug if they do not care to listen. The radio is on practically all day with the exception of the rest hour immediately after dinner which is a silent rest hour. Whenever there is a good football or baseball game, however, the radio is left on during the game even though it may be during the silent rest hour, for the fans to listen to the game. And there are plenty of fans to listen. It is impossible to estimate the value of the radio to the patients as it is almost invaluable.

B honor roll—Victoria Blackets, Agnes Bell, Lyla Peterson, Hazel Bell, Edwin Johnson, Clifford Miles, Pauline Woods and Lena Mae Miles.

The P. T. A. of our school gave a pie social Nov. 14. The proceeds derived from pies, fish pond and candy booth was $20.85. Thtis money is to be used for the Christmas tree. Our Christmas program and tree will be December 19.

The fifth grade are enjoying the story of Robin Hood in reading.

The school has enjoyed the reading of "The Wolf Hunters" and "The Gold Hunters." Mrs. Curo is now reading "Lost Over Greenland." We find it most interesting.

The first and second grade made Thanksgiving posters. The other grades wrote the story of Thanksgiving, illustrating them with appropriate pictures.

The pupils are enjoying the new snow giving them the chance to change from the game of "baseball" to "fox and geese."

HUGHEY SCHOOL REPORT

15 Pupils Enrolled, Miss Myrtle E. Wilson is the Teacher

The following is the report of school district No. 3, known as the Hughey school at South Long Lake, for the past month:

For the past month, there has been no pupil reaching the A honor roll in their studies and only four reached the B honor roll. They were Edyt Shultz of the eighth grade, Myrtle Paulson of the seventh grade, Janet Thompson of the fifth grade and Harold Paulson of the fourth grade.

There is an enrollment of 15 pupils. Only three were present every day: William Thompson, Janet Thompson and Myrtle Paulson.

Several interesting experiments have been undertaken the past months by the various grades of the school. The seventh and eighth grades spent one day in Brainerd in which they visited the Washington high school, the Paper Mills, post office and the Brainerd Dispatch office. At the Dispatch office, each child received a linotype slug containing their names as a souvenir from the Dispatch. These children were Edith Shultz, Edith Johnson, William Thompson, Bob Palmer, Leo Paulson and Myrtle Paulson.

A spelling contest was also conducted this month, of which Janet Thompson proved to be the winner, with Jean Hauggorde coming a close second.

The fourth grade table, depicting Eskomo Life, has proven of unusual interest to the children.

First Meeting Held of High School Parent Teachers Association

The first meeting of the high school Parent Teachers Association was held at school on Tuesday evening, with Robert Campbell, president, presiding. A small group of parents and teachers gathered to hear the program, which started with a business meeting. Mrs. Sam Newman read the minutes of the last meeting and after that the treasurers report was given. Followed a half hour discussion of the state P. T. A., here next fall, of the work to be done, of the money to be raised and of the ways and means for raising necessary funds. The matter was left for further action at some later date.

A most delightful community singing period followed, an informal affair where R. L. Jenkins, in fine fettle, led the audience in song and himself gave several unexpected solos to teach the pianist, Miss Rickard, some popular tunes not in her repertoire.

The main part of the evening was an hour's talk by Rev. Edgar A. Valiant in which he proposed a number of changes in the present system of running schools, suggested that all teachers visit at the homes of all their pupils, that there be a most sympathetic relationship between students and teachers and that clinics be held between parents and teachers to discuss the problem child. It is to be hoped that either at school or at the homes these two groups so thoroughly devoted to the progress and happiness of the children may get together for the interests of all concerned.

Since the regular monthly meetings have not been held, the next meeting is scheduled for January, whiech ordinarily has no meeting.

BURN FORD COKE

for a cleaner home and more actual heat

HAVE a clean house, a clean furnace, a clean chimney—and more clean heat for your money. In Ford Coke the elements that make dust, smoke and soot have been removed. Use it for a while and you'll notice the difference in your curtains and carpets. And the absence of soot gives you protection against chimney fires.

It's a truly economical domestic fuel. Practically all heat—burns to very few ashes. Controls easily; banks well, and gives quick heat for early morning. No need to alter your present furnace. The lighter weight of a shovelful of coke makes it especially desirable where women must tend the furnace. These are all reasons why you ought to call us today for a trial order of Ford Coke.

(Ford Charcoal Briquets are an ideal fuel for starting furnace and for grate fires)

for a cleaner home and more actual heat

HAVE a clean house, a clean furnace, a clean chimney—and more clean heat for your money. In Ford Coke the elements that make dust, smoke and soot have been removed. Use it for a while and you'll notice the difference in your curtains and carpets. And the absence of soot gives you protection against chimney fires.

It's a truly economical domestic fuel. Practically all heat—burns to very few ashes. Controls easily; banks well, and gives quick heat for early morning. No need to alter your present furnace. The lighter weight of a shovelful of coke makes it especially desirable where women must tend the furnace. These are all reasons why you ought to call us today for a trial order of Ford Coke.

(Ford Charcoal Briquets are an ideal fuel for starting furnace and for grate fires)

PIONEER SAGA TOLD IN "THE BIG TRAIL"

Special After School Matinee Arranged for Children Monday

"The Big Trail," a saga of the indomitable courage of the pioneer in opening the west will be told realistically by the talking screen at the Paramount theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Because of the historical importance of the film and because of his belief that every student should see it, Harry Greenberg, manager of the theatre has arranged for a special showing for children Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The film takes the observer over the trail followed by the hardy men and women during 1830. It is tense with thrills and adventure told in interesting style based on facts.

"The Big Trail" features John Wayne and Marguerite Churchill in the leading roles. El Brendel, also has a character part.

First Folding Machine

The folding of printed sheets for books and newspapers was performed by hand until Cyrus Chambers, Jr., of Philadelphia, invented a practical folding machine in 1856.

Fawcetts to Cruise in South Sea Islands

Captain and Mrs. W. H. Fawcett of the Leamington hotel, Minneapolis, and Breezy Point, left Wednesday from Minneapolis for a motor tour to Los Angeles and Hollywood. They will stop en route at Corpus Christi, Texas, for a week or so that Mr. Fawcett may accept a duck hunting invitation from W. G. Kinsolving of Corpus Christi and Gene Howe, Amarillo, Texas.

Captain and Mrs. Fawcett will sail on the Nonowai from San Francisco on Christmas eve for a cruise of the South Sea islands, New Zealand, Australia, New Guinea, Borneo, Mindanoa, Manila, Hongkong, Canton, Shanghai, Yokohama, Tokio and Honolulu. Mr. Fawcett has arranged for a deep sea fishing trip while in New Zealand, and will do some big game hunting in Australia. They return about May 1.

Mooseheart Legion Holds a Successful Card Party Wednesday

The Mooseheart Legion held a very successful card party on Wednesday evening, December 3. Mrs. Ellis Brandt and J. M. Fredericks carried home the chickens, which were given for head prizes. Mrs. Howard Cater and A. C. Anderson received the consolation prizes.

A lunch was served after the playing. Coffee for the lunch was furnished the Legion by H. F. Gabourie.

The Mooseheart Legion will hold another card party in January.

Pay of Early Statesmen

Members of the senate and house of representatives in Washington's time were given $6 a day during the time congress was actually in session. In 1814 they were granted a salary of $1,800 a year.

TWIN CITY FIRMS HIRE D.B.C. GIRLS

CONVALESCING RAPIDLY

Expects to Resume Duties of his Office at Brainerd by the Middle of Next Week, He Writes

Postmaster Carl Adams, who has been under treatment at the U. S. Veterans hospital in Minneapolis, will be discharged on December 10 and will return home on that date.

In a letter to the Brainerd Dispatch Mr. Adams writes that it has now been nine weeks since he underwent a major operation for trouble on his left hip. He has been convalescing rapidly and expects to resume the duties of his office the middle of next week.

The Dispatch was received by the postmaster while at the hospital and kept him informed of his home town.

BIGGER AND BETTER

THE GREAT AMERICAN VALUE

Fine-car distinction and quality in the new Chevrolet Six

Again, Chevrolet and General Motors have utilized their combined resources to establish a new and higher standard of value for the American motor car.

A new six-cylinder Chevrolet is now on display, offering fine-car distinction and quality certain to appeal to every discriminating buyer. For the new Chevrolet represents a type of economical transportation that America has long anticipated—a low-priced six styled with such striking talent and good taste, so smartly beautiful and complete in its perfection of detail, so advanced and refined mechanically that you will immediately recognize it as the Great American Value.

Front view of the new Chevrolet Sport Coupe

This great value is the outcome of four basic Chevrolet advantages: (1) The savings of volume production in nineteen great modern plants. (2) The economies which result when raw materials are purchased in vast quantities. (3) The benefits of continuous research in General Motors laboratories and on the General Motors Proving Ground. And (4) the close association with the Fisher Body Corporation who, this year, have surpassed all their previous achievements in coachcraft by developing bodies of outstanding quality, refinement and value.

These basic advantages have made it possible to build a finer car at lower cost. They have enabled Chevrolet to offer important improvements throughout the new Chevrolet Six—to give it a longer wheelbase—greater roominess and comfort—strikingly smarter style—impressive new luxury—more thoroughly satisfactory performance—greater dependability—and to pass on these savings of efficient manufacturing to the Chevrolet buyer in the form of low prices!

Read over these new low prices. Know how very little it costs to own the Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six. Come in today and give this new automobile a thorough inspection. Study the many refinements and new appointments introduced in the distinctive bodies by Fisher. Ride in the car. Drive it! A few minutes' experience will convince you that the new Chevrolet Six is a new and finer type of economical transportation—a quality automobile that you will surely want to own. The Great American Value!

"JUDY" By Winifred Van Duzer

Tris Proposes Marriage To Judy

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

JUDY kept asking herself, "Do I love him? So jaunty, so dashing—but just that isn't enough. Just that wouldn't be enough . . ." She had had such plans, such a vision of a future. Did she care enough about Tris to give it all up for him?

That future which was to have been so glorious seemed rather dim and far away now. She had begun to believe that what Peggy always said might be ture—that a career at best was a lonely thing. She had had a taste of romance and the radiance of this had routed the long, young ambitions.

But she was not sure that the place of those ambitions could be filled by what romance offered instead. Tris—gay, reckless—whose fatalism was like a gleaming bridge across a chasm. Be merry today, for tomorrow never comes. . . . The other Judy had believed this, but Judy, herself, was more practical.

She tried to talk it over with Tris.

They were making slow time up the river, crawling through a thick, driving mist that beat upon their faces like rain as they stood at the dripping rail. The whole world was gray with fog, and the shore lines were merely darker banks of cloud as the fog horn sounded at intervals in a lost, moaning loneliness.

"Do you mean always to keep moving around, Tris dear? Won't you miss having a home and things some day—all the nice plushy moss a rolling stone doesn't gather?"

"Rollings stones don't want nice plushy moss a rolling stone doesn't rolling—keep bright and shiny. I thought you felt this way?"

"Yes. I did." When she was safe at home in Lyall she felt this way. Now she kept looking ahead. When she was Peggy's age . . . Women wanted to rest sometimes. Tramping de luxe was all right when you were young.

He said, "Think of the freedom, Judy. No responsibility. If you don't like the place you go somewhere else. You're free as—as the gulls!"

"Oh, the gulls!" Her eyes turned to the gray shapes wheeling in the gray mist—mounting, swooping, coming to rest only on the waves where there was no rest. Sea gulls. .

She knew now what they had tried to tell her yesterday. Something about freedom. They were free. Like Tris. Wind beaten, storm tossed. Tris was like the gulls, tossed by fortune, blown about by every vague whim . . . He wished to be this way . . .

It seemed unexpressibly sad.

"I think the gulls are very lonesome, Tris."

"Silly, they have each other." She was silent. Frightened. Tris had never seemed more enchanting than he did now as he smiled at her in the mist, his dark face full of light, eyes tender.

He put his hand down on hers as it lay on the rail and the old warm sparkle rushed through her veins, lighted the dismal day with beauty.

She gave him a little shaken smile. "I'm going somewhere by myself, Tris. I've got to think."

He bent down and kissed her quickly.

When she glanced backward he was leaning on the rail, watching the gulls that followed the ship.

She met Kit Camp and Betsy. Kit Camp should have been asleep yet here he was frolicking in the rain with Betsy. He never had missed his sleep on her account, Judy reflected.

They saw her coming and Betsy caught his hand and they raced toward her along the deck, very blithe, very carefree.

"Was looking for you, Judy," Betsy squealed. "Got a million things to talk over, but you're so darn exclusive. Well," she shrilled at Kit Camp, "I'm on my way. What you going to do about it?"

He looked from Judy to Betsy, laughing all the while, hands in his pockets, moving his broad shoulders with the swaying of the ship. "What do you want me to do, little one?"

Betsy went very close to him, grinned up into his face. "Parting calls for a kiss, at least. Maybe two. Well?"

The glints came into his eyes, but he did not lower his head. "This one doesn't. What do you think of that?"

"What would I think?" A little edge to Betsy's voice as her glance winged to Judy. "I'm the wrong girl, that's what I think. You have a try at Sir Snooty, Ju. Go on, see what happens."

Judy met Kit's amused regard and her cheeks flamed. She began to pull Betsy away. "Of all the idotic feather-heads! I suppose you think you're smart, saying wild, crazy things. Like to wring your neck—I would, indeed!"

"Oh, hush up, Ju!" They were making their way to Betsy's cabin—not too stealthily, for the ship was beginning to pitch a little. Betsy surveyed Judy's flushed, angry face, shrugged with supreme unconcern. "Come down off the pedestal, darling. The man's goofy about you, and you know it! So why act like Queen Victoria's fair-haired child?"

"If that's all you've got to say I'll go along."

But Betsy made Judy sit down and when she had collected a nail file from the floor, a buffer from the soap dish and polish from a half eaten box of candy and had perched herself in the middle of the berth she began to talk, as she said, in a plain way.

"You've always had a grouch on life, dearie. Lord knows why. You've got looks and too much sense to act the way you do. Never give any man a break. The way you treated Roy Varman was a crime."

"Roy Varman! Little insect."

"Oh, I don't know You were sore because they gave him the job you wanted but that wasn't his fault. He's going to land at the top some day, see if he doesn't. He never could see anyone when you were around and you always acted as if he was dust under your feet . . . Still you wouldn't make a clean cut with him so anyone else could have a chance. Others would come running, Judy Archer, if Roy Varman raised a finger."

In stunned amazement Judy saw that Betsy's eyes were filled with tears. "You, Betsy?" she asked. "Why, I had no idea—oh, I am so sorry——"

"Well . . . You might do one thing or the other, Ju. You're so darn self-absorbed."

"I guess I have been. Yes—I've been that all right . . ."

"I went out with him once or twice when you wouldn't. And then you dangled him some more. I s'pose you think I'm a scatter brain, Ju. There's a few things I'm solid on though and Roy is one. I've always been solid for him."

Judy Realizes She Cares For Kit.

Judy got up and kissed the pert little woe-begone face. "You'll never have to worry about me that way again, Betsy dear. And I hope you'll be happy together. If——"

"No 'if' in this at all. You wait! And Ju—" Betsy was very earnest, very hopeful all at once, "I meant what I said. About Sparks. He is wild over you."

"Really dear it doesn't make the slightest difference to me," Judy repeated this. "Not the slightest difference!"

And she knew that she lied.

The fog seemed to thicken as the day wore along; it was like a gray wall into which the ship nosed cautiously, feeling her way. The cruise had included a trip along the Saguenay, but that was out of the question in such weather.

Faint tremors of apprehension ran around among the passengers. Judy noticed it first toward evening when older people began to huddle in the lounge rooms, all with their wraps on, handbags bulging.

No one spoke the word "danger," yet it was in all their minds.

Judy knew this by their too steady smiles, their too steady chatter, which broke off when the fog horn moaned and started hurriedly again just too late to cover that doleful sound.

Judy asked a colored deckhand who was busily lashing chairs together if there were danger.

"Oh, yas'm," he grinned. "We's liable to run aground mos' any time now."

"And would that do much harm?" she went on, fascinated by his blissful detachment.

"Yas'm, sure would. We moughs run onto a sandbar an' we moughs run onto a ledge.

She began a search for Peggy then. Peggy was almost never in the cabin these days. It was a long search. It ended at last on a lower deck behind the glassed in shelter in a corner between the wall and piled up chairs.

Mr. Tennant had spread out two of the chairs and covered them with robes, and he occupied one, Peggy the other. They were very near together, looking cheerfully contented. And they were holding hands.

Judy said, "Well!" She stood there, staring. "Well! There's a fog," she continued, in a dazed way.

"A fog?" Peggy raised up, peered at the windows. But it was growing dark and the windows gave back the lights from within the ship. "Did you say fog, dear? I hadn't noticed."

Mr. Tennant spoke then, crisply, his blue eyes twinkling at the girl. "Your mother has something to tell you, my dear. Something I hope you'll be glad to hear."

Peggy gasped, "Oh——"

"Mother! Well——"

"I—we've just . . . Oh, I'm sure you'll be happy about this, Judy. You see, Don and I are going to be married. I—that is we've just decided. You—you'll not mind, dear?"

Judy's first thought was, "Why, she's a little afraid of me!" And her second thought was, "Betsy said I'm self-absorbed. I didn't want mother to get married again. Not ever. But now I'm glad!"

PILES
Ended Without Cutting or Salves
Thousands of Pile sufferers have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves or cutting remove the cause.
Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation and strengthen the affected parts.
Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID and prescribed it for 1000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID from their own druggist with a rigid money-back guarantee.
Dr. Leonhardt's prescription has a wonderful record of success right in this city and H. P. Dunn, Johnson's Pharmacy invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID and guarantees to refund the purchase price if it does not end all Pile misery. advt.

IRISH ON SHORT END OF BETTING ON SATURDAY

BOAST 18 STRAIGHT VICTORIES AS THEY FACE SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

COAST SCORING MACHINE IS THE STRONGEST COMPETITION OF THEIR SEASON

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Los Angeles, Dec. 5. — The Notre Dame football team today was cast in the unfamiliar role of underdog.

Although boasting a string of eighteen straight victories, the Irish nevertheless, were on the short end of 10 to 8 betting odds for Saturday's game against Southern California's high scoring machine.

To a purpose Knute Rockne has played his cards wisely, to send his team on the field tomorrow before a crowd of 90,000 doped to lose. The Notre Dame wizard guaged perfectly his announcement that Larry Mullins first string fullback, would be unable to play.

Those who have seen Southern California trample California, Stanford and Washington cannot conceive of any team stopping the Trojans' ruthless offense, and this wave of enthusiasm has wafted Howard Jones' eleven into the favored position.

Knute Rockne's psychology has kept them three. Every word Rockne utters attempts to convey the idea that Notre Dame hasn't a chance.

Without exception every football critic, writer and coach in this section favors Southern California to win. On this score, everyone seems to have overlooked that ugly duckling of the gridiron—over-confidence.

Rockne is sending his team into game mentally and physically pitched to spend its supreme effort of the year.

Southern California expects to win and hasn't contemplated the thought of losing. Only once this season have the Trojans found themselves behind, and that was against Washington State. Trailing, 7 to 0, Southern California became panicky and wasted its strength futilely.

Misplays at critical moments may help lose this game for Southern California. With Frank Carideo, dynamic quarterback, playing his last game Notre Dame isn't apt to lose unless it deserves to lose. Bad judgment, costly miscues and wasted efforts can beat Southern California even though the Trojans gain enough ground to win.

Three times in four games Southern California has faltered in a pinch and seen Notre Dame win by a single point on each occasion. On the other hand, there are many angles that point towards Southern California as the winner. Hunch players like this one:

Howard Jones has punctured the end and beginning of previous Notre Dame victory marches. Back in 1921 after Notre Dame had won twenty straight games in 1919, 1920 and 1921, Iowa, under Howard Jones, beat the Irish, 10 to 7.

MIDWEST FOOTBALL LUMINARIES TO MEET SOUTHWEST SQUAD

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 5.—(U.P.)—Coach Robert C. Zuppke of Illinois university is organizing an all-star team of middlewestern football players to meet a similar picked team representing the southwest in a charity football game at Dallas, Tex., Jan. 1.

Acceptances have been received from Stanley Bodman, Illinois tackle; Howard Kissell, Purdue halfback; Francis Dieg, Marquette fullback, and Arthur Bultman, Marquette center.

RAPID GROWTH OF HOCKEY IN U. S.

PLANS MADE FOR FORMING STRONG OLYMPIC CONTENDER

The rapid growth of hockey in the United States, due primarily to the development of the professional ice pastime in leading cities of the country, has spurred officials of the Amateur Athletic Union and of the United States Amateur Hockey association to make extensive plans for the formation of a strong Olympic contender from the United States during the international games at Lake Placid next winter.

Hockey has boomed in all sections of the country the past three years. The United States was not represented in the ice games at Amsterdam, Holland, in 1928, because amateur officials of this country did not take sufficient interest in the sport to develop a team far enough in advance to warrant an entry. Several amateur teams of the country, including the great Augsburg, Minn., college team—composed chiefly of the "Hanson brothers"—as well as the West End team of Duluth, sought official sanction from U. S. A. H. A., but no definite action was ever taken on these requests.

Since 1928, however, hockey has been on the upgrade to such an extent that the United States Amateur Hockey association has turned over control of the game to the Amateur Athletic Union and this body plans to organize a strong hockey team on the same lines as other athletic teams are formed.

Recently the A. A. U. announced that registration of all players and teams desiring to compete for Olympic honors would be made in various sections of the country. District chairmen have been appointed who will difficulty which presented itself in 1928 handle these registrations so that the will not be repeated.

"JUDY" By Winifred Van Duzer

Tris Proposes Marriage To Judy

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

JUDY kept asking herself, "Do I love him? So jaunty, so dashing—but just that isn't enough. Just that wouldn't be enough . . ." She had had such plans, such a vision of a future. Did she care enough about Tris to give it all up for him?

That future which was to have been so glorious seemed rather dim and far away now. She had begun to believe that what Peggy always said might be ture—that a career at best was a lonely thing. She had had a taste of romance and the radiance of this had routed the long, young ambitions.

But she was not sure that the place of those ambitions could be filled by what romance offered instead. Tris—gay, reckless—whose fatalism was like a gleaming bridge across a chasm. Be merry today, for tomorrow never comes. . . . The other Judy had believed this, but Judy, herself, was more practical.

She tried to talk it over with Tris.

They were making slow time up the river, crawling through a thick, driving mist that beat upon their faces like rain as they stood at the dripping rail. The whole world was gray with fog, and the shore lines were merely darker banks of cloud as the fog horn sounded at intervals in a lost, moaning loneliness.

"Do you mean always to keep moving around, Tris dear? Won't you miss having a home and things some day—all the nice plushy moss a rolling stone doesn't gather?"

"Rollings stones don't want nice plushy moss a rolling stone doesn't rolling—keep bright and shiny. I thought you felt this way?"

"Yes. I did." When she was safe at home in Lyall she felt this way. Now she kept looking ahead. When she was Peggy's age . . . Women wanted to rest sometimes. Tramping de luxe was all right when you were young.

He said, "Think of the freedom, Judy. No responsibility. If you don't like the place you go somewhere else. You're free as—as the gulls!"

"Oh, the gulls!" Her eyes turned to the gray shapes wheeling in the gray mist—mounting, swooping, coming to rest only on the waves where there was no rest. Sea gulls. .

She knew now what they had tried to tell her yesterday. Something about freedom. They were free. Like Tris. Wind beaten, storm tossed. Tris was like the gulls, tossed by fortune, blown about by every vague whim . . . He wished to be this way . . .

It seemed unexpressibly sad.

"I think the gulls are very lonesome, Tris."

"Silly, they have each other." She was silent. Frightened. Tris had never seemed more enchanting than he did now as he smiled at her in the mist, his dark face full of light, eyes tender.

He put his hand down on hers as it lay on the rail and the old warm sparkle rushed through her veins, lighted the dismal day with beauty.

She gave him a little shaken smile. "I'm going somewhere by myself, Tris. I've got to think."

He bent down and kissed her quickly.

When she glanced backward he was leaning on the rail, watching the gulls that followed the ship.

She met Kit Camp and Betsy. Kit Camp should have been asleep yet here he was frolicking in the rain with Betsy. He never had missed his sleep on her account, Judy reflected.

They saw her coming and Betsy caught his hand and they raced toward her along the deck, very blithe, very carefree.

"Was looking for you, Judy," Betsy squealed. "Got a million things to talk over, but you're so darn exclusive. Well," she shrilled at Kit Camp, "I'm on my way. What you going to do about it?"

He looked from Judy to Betsy, laughing all the while, hands in his pockets, moving his broad shoulders with the swaying of the ship. "What do you want me to do, little one?"

Betsy went very close to him, grinned up into his face. "Parting calls for a kiss, at least. Maybe two. Well?"

The glints came into his eyes, but he did not lower his head. "This one doesn't. What do you think of that?"

"What would I think?" A little edge to Betsy's voice as her glance winged to Judy. "I'm the wrong girl, that's what I think. You have a try at Sir Snooty, Ju. Go on, see what happens."

Judy met Kit's amused regard and her cheeks flamed. She began to pull Betsy away. "Of all the idotic feather-heads! I suppose you think you're smart, saying wild, crazy things. Like to wring your neck—I would, indeed!"

"Oh, hush up, Ju!" They were making their way to Betsy's cabin—not too stealthily, for the ship was beginning to pitch a little. Betsy surveyed Judy's flushed, angry face, shrugged with supreme unconcern. "Come down off the pedestal, darling. The man's goofy about you, and you know it! So why act like Queen Victoria's fair-haired child?"

"If that's all you've got to say I'll go along."

But Betsy made Judy sit down and when she had collected a nail file from the floor, a buffer from the soap dish and polish from a half eaten box of candy and had perched herself in the middle of the berth she began to talk, as she said, in a plain way.

"You've always had a grouch on life, dearie. Lord knows why. You've got looks and too much sense to act the way you do. Never give any man a break. The way you treated Roy Varman was a crime."

"Roy Varman! Little insect."

"Oh, I don't know You were sore because they gave him the job you wanted but that wasn't his fault. He's going to land at the top some day, see if he doesn't. He never could see anyone when you were around and you always acted as if he was dust under your feet . . . Still you wouldn't make a clean cut with him so anyone else could have a chance. Others would come running, Judy Archer, if Roy Varman raised a finger."

In stunned amazement Judy saw that Betsy's eyes were filled with tears. "You, Betsy?" she asked. "Why, I had no idea—oh, I am so sorry——"

"Well . . . You might do one thing or the other, Ju. You're so darn self-absorbed."

"I guess I have been. Yes—I've been that all right . . ."

"I went out with him once or twice when you wouldn't. And then you dangled him some more. I s'pose you think I'm a scatter brain, Ju. There's a few things I'm solid on though and Roy is one. I've always been solid for him."

Judy Realizes She Cares For Kit.

Judy got up and kissed the pert little woe-begone face. "You'll never have to worry about me that way again, Betsy dear. And I hope you'll be happy together. If——"

"No 'if' in this at all. You wait! And Ju—" Betsy was very earnest, very hopeful all at once, "I meant what I said. About Sparks. He is wild over you."

"Really dear it doesn't make the slightest difference to me." Judy repeated this. "Not the slightest difference!"

And she knew that she lied.

The fog seemed to thicken as the day wore along; it was like a gray wall into which the ship nosed cautiously, feeling her way. The cruise had included a trip along the Saguenay, but that was out of the question in such weather

Faint tremors of apprehension ran around among the passengers. Judy noticed it first toward evening when older people began to huddle in the lounge rooms, all with their wraps on, handbags bulging.

No one spoke the word "danger," yet it was in all their minds.

Judy knew this by their too steady smiles, their too steady chatter, which broke off when the fog horn moaned and started hurriedly again just too late to cover that doleful sound.

Judy asked a colored deckhand who was busily lashing chairs together if there were danger.

"Oh, yas'm," he grinned. "We's liable to run aground mos' any time now."

"And would that do much harm?" she went on, fascinated by his blissful detachment.

"Yas'm, sure would. We moughn run onto a sandbar an' we moughn run onto a ledge.

She began a search for Peggy then. Peggy was almost never in the cabin these days. It was a long search. It ended at last on a lower deck behind the glassed in shelter in a corner between the wall and piled up chairs.

Mr. Tennant had spread out two of the chairs and covered them with robes, and he occupied one, Peggy the other. They were very near together, looking cheerfully contented. And they were holding hands.

Judy said, "Well!" She stood there, staring. "Well! There's a fog," she continued, in a dazed way.

"A fog?" Peggy raised up, peered at the windows. But it was growing dark and the windows gave back the lights from within the ship. "Did you say fog, dear? I hadn't noticed."

Mr. Tennant spoke then, crisply, his blue eyes twinkling at the girl. "Your mother has something to tell you, my dear. Something I hope you'll be glad to hear."

Peggy gasped, "Oh——"

"Mother! Well——"

"I—we've just . . . Oh, I'm sure you'll be happy about this, Judy. You see, Don and I are going to be married. I—that is we've just decided. You—you'll not mind, dear?"

Judy's first thought was, "Why, she's a little afraid of me!" And her second thought was, "Betsy said I'm self-absorbed. I didn't want mother to get married again. Not ever. But now I'm glad!"

PILES
Ended Without Cutting or Salves
Thousands of Pile sufferers have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves or cutting remove the cause.
Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation and strengthen the affected parts.
Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID and prescribed it for 1000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID from their own druggist with a rigid money-back guarantee.
Dr. Leonhardt's prescription has a wonderful record of success right in this city and H. P. Dunn, Johnson's Pharmacy invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID and guarantees to refund the purchase price if it does not end all Pile misery. advt.

IRISH ON SHORT END OF BETTING ON SATURDAY

BOAST 18 STRAIGHT VICTORIES AS THEY FACE SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

COAST SCORING MACHINE IS THE STRONGEST COMPETITION OF THEIR SEASON

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Los Angeles, Dec. 5. — The Notre Dame football team today was cast in the unfamiliar role of underdog.

Although boasting a string of eighteen straight victories, the Irish nevertheless, were on the short end of 10 to 8 betting odds for Saturday's game against Southern California's high scoring machine.

To a purpose Knute Rockne has played his cards wisely, to send his team on the field tomorrow before a crowd of 90,000 doped to lose. The Notre Dame wizard guaged perfectly his announcement that Larry Mullins first string fullback, would be unable to play.

Those who have seen Southern California trample California, Stanford and Washington cannot conceive of any team stopping the Trojans' ruthless offense, and this wave of enthusiasm has wafted Howard Jones' eleven into the favored position.

Knute Rockne's psychology has kept them three. Every word Rockne utters attempts to convey the idea that Notre Dame hasn't a chance.

Without exception every football critic, writer and coach in this section favors Southern California to win. On this score, everyone seems to have overlooked that ugly duckling of the gridiron—over-confidence.

Rockne is sending his team into game mentally and physically pitched to spend its supreme effort of the year.

Southern California expects to win and hasn't contemplated the thought of losing. Only once this season have the Trojans found themselves behind, and that was against Washington State. Trailing, 7 to 0, Southern California became panicky and wasted its strength futilely.

Misplays at critical moments may help lose this game for Southern California. With Frank Carideo, dynamic quarterback, playing his last game Notre Dame isn't apt to lose unless it deserves to lose. Bad judgment, costly miscues and wasted efforts can beat Southern California even though the Trojans gain enough ground to win.

Three times in four games Southern California has faltered in a pinch and seen Notre Dame win by a single point on each occasion. On the other hand, there are many angles that point towards Southern California as the winner. Hunch players like this one:

Howard Jones has punctured the end and beginning of previous Notre Dame victory marches. Back in 1921 after Notre Dame had won twenty straight games in 1919, 1920 and 1921, Iowa, under Howard Jones, beat the Irish, 10 to 7.

MIDWEST FOOTBALL LUMINARIES TO MEET SOUTHWEST SQUAD

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 5.—(U.P.)—Coach Robert C. Zuppke of Illinois university is organizing an all-star team of middlewestern football players to meet a similar picked team representing the southwest in a charity football game at Dallas, Tex., Jan. 1.

Acceptances have been received from Stanley Bodman, Illinois tackle; Howard Kissell, Purdue halfback; Francis Dieg, Marquette fullback, and Arthur Bultman, Marquette center.

RAPID GROWTH OF HOCKEY IN U. S.

PLANS MADE FOR FORMING STRONG OLYMPIC CONTENDER

The rapid growth of hockey in the United States, due primarily to the development of the professional ice pastime in leading cities of the country, has spurred officials of the Amateur Athletic Union and of the United States Amateur Hockey association to make extensive plans for the formation of a strong Olympic contender from the United States during the international games at Lake Placid next winter.

Hockey has boomed in all sections of the country the past three years. The United States was not represented in the ice games at Amsterdam, Holland, in 1928, because amateur officials of this country did not take sufficient interest in the sport to develop a team far enough in advance to warrant an entry. Several amateur teams of the country, including the great Augsburg, Minn., college team—composed chiefly of the "Hanson brothers"—as well as the West End team of Duluth, sought official sanction from U. S. A. H. A., but no definite action was ever taken on these requests.

Since 1928, however, hockey has been on the upgrade to such an extent that the United States Amateur Hockey association has turned over control of the game to the Amateur Athletic Union and this body plans to organize a strong hockey team on the same lines as other athletic teams are formed.

Recently the A. A. U. announced that registration of all players and teams desiring to compete for Olympic honors would be made in various sections of the country. District chairmen have been appointed who will difficulty which presented itself in 1928 handle these registrations so that the will not be repeated.
